Hollenbeck Palms Announces New Medical Director, Dr. Thomas Henry Kanegae

(Los Angeles, California, October 9, 2009) Dr. Thomas Henry Kanegae has joined Hollenbeck Palms as its Medical Director to oversee the continuing care of Hollenbeck residents as they progress from independent and assisted living to skilled nursing care on our eight acre campus, announced William G. Heideman, President and CEO, Hollenbeck Palms.

“In our 119th year of service to the greater Los Angeles community, we are honored to be affiliated with an exceptional physician like Dr. Kanegae who has an outstanding reputation as a senior care physician,” noted Mr. Heideman. “We know that he will not only greatly enhance the care our residents receive, but will be a valuable resource to our nursing staff and administration.”

Dr. Kanegae’s professional positions have included: Medical Director Cardiac Rehabilitation, Hospital of the Good Samaritan, Los Angeles, California; Medical Director Acute Care Unit, City View Japanese Hospital among others. He has maintained a private practice since 1978 and is affiliated with Good Samaritan Hospital.

Hollenbeck Palms, a Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC), provides independent, assisted living and skilled nursing for its residents, with focus on “Wellness as a Way of Life” through a daily nutrition program, activities, health care and many other amenities designed to support older adults’ achieve goals which enhance their independence and quality of life.
